

South of Scotland Destination Alliance (SSDA)

Business Plan 2025-27

v1.3 4th July 2025

Introduction:

The South of Scotland's Responsible Tourism Strategy 2024-34 has unprecedented ambition for our destination, uniting all public and private organisations in one collective endeavour: to grow our visitor economy by £1bn and support 20,000 jobs. The South of Scotland Destination Alliance (SSDA), with VisitScotland (VS), Dumfries and Galloway Council (DGC), Scottish Borders Council (SBC) and South of Scotland Enterprise (SOSE), was key in the development of this strategy, having co-led the extensive consultation and engagement of hundreds of visitor economy businesses.

Having collectively invested considerable time developing this Strategy, and the associated 2024-27 Action Plan, we are now firmly in the delivery period. Collectively, the SSDA, VS, DGC, SBC and SOSE hold themselves accountable to delivery, publishing quarterly reports on the progress and impact achieved against this strategy.

As the official destination management and marketing organisation for the South of Scotland, all that the SSDA does in the coming years is clearly aligned to the delivery of the Responsible Tourism Strategy.

This document outlines the SSDA's Business Plans for 2025-27, structured clearly around the four strands of the Responsible Tourism Strategy, with a fifth strand around the SSDA's own organisational development.

This is a two-year Business Plan but with a mid-term review point, planned for April 2026. It should be read alongside the SSDA's Marketing Strategy and Income Diversification Strategy, which cover the same time period.

Taking time to articulate the 58 pieces of work the SSDA plans to deliver in this period, each as clearly delineated projects with a stated objective, approach and targets, has a number of advantages. It allows the SSDA to:

- Align all operations with a clear overarching strategic purpose;
- Maintain the SSDA's corporate culture as a strictly outcomes-focussed organisation;
- Share with members, funders and partners what we plan to achieve and how, inviting their active involvement;
- Clearly track impact as multiple projects move forwards;
- Empower staff by giving clear operational responsibility for individual projects, offering a high degree of autonomy and, with it, organisational efficiency;
- Hold ourselves publicly accountable.

The SSDA is proud to be a fast-moving, lightweight, responsive organisation which is quick to innovate. This efficiency of operation and speed of movement is key to our success.

It is inevitable therefore that as soon as this Business Plan is published it will start to become out of date. Events beyond our control will mean that some areas of work will become less important or unachievable, while other new opportunities will emerge which we should embrace. The SSDA staff team is tasked with delivering this Business Plan but is also asked to think innovatively, and at times laterally, about the best way of achieving the overall objectives of the Responsible Tourism Strategy. This will mean evolving what is in these pages.

With all humility, we recognise that, even with the clickable links on pages 5-6, few people will have the time or appetite to go through this 47-page document in detail. We therefore have an online interactive Mind Map version of this Business Plan which allows the viewer to see at a glance what we are setting out to achieve, clicking areas of interest to dig down to the detail. It is this online interactive version of this document which we will keep updated over the next two years with live information, such that anyone, anywhere can easily track how each project is progressing.

The SSDA commits to working with partners and Members both in the delivery of this Business Plan and in being transparent and accountable to changes in operational focus through this period. The SSDA's Board (themselves business leaders, elected by SSDA members and volunteering their time without remuneration) will help govern and oversee delivery of this Business Plan.

This is an exciting time for the South of Scotland's visitor economy. We look forward to working with Members and partners to deliver on the plans here detailed.

Together, if we sustain the collective will, we will deliver the agreed £1bn of economic growth supporting 20,000 jobs

Funding and capacity:

The SSDA is grateful to SOSE for its continuing backing of the South of Scotland's visitor economy. A further two years of funding has been agreed, building on the 2020-25 grant, which is the principal funder of the work outlined in this document.

Without this SOSE funding it would be impossible to deliver on these plans and successfully deliver the Responsible Tourism Strategy.

The focus of the 2025-27 SOSE grant funding includes ten specific priority areas, which all 58 projects outlined in this Business Plan fall into one or more of:

- 1. Attracting higher spending visitors
- 2. Extending the season
- 3. South of Scotland Thistle Awards
- 4. Support any emerging tourism projects or initiatives
- 5. Food and drink tourism
- 6. Work with the Galloway and Southern Ayrshire Biosphere and the Natural Capital Innovation
- 7. Delivery of the Responsible Tourism Strategy
- 8. Promoting businesses through the Scotland Starts Here website
- 9. Engaging the International Agritourism Conference in 2026
- 10. Signposting to other support provided by other organisations

In addition, investment from Scottish Borders Council to help deliver nine named projects, a generous corporate sponsorship from Caledonia Park Designer Retail Outlet and membership income, will enable our on-going activity.

The SSDA is committed to supporting our members, supporting growth in the region's visitor economy and supporting the unique and strong partnership model we've established across the South. As we head into the work plan for 2025/26, we have undertaken an efficiency savings review of activity, supplier contracts and team capacity, prioritising the 58 areas outlined in this business plan as determined by the Responsible Tourism Strategy and needs of our membership.

Partnership and collaboration are at the very heart of all the SSDA does. We are proud to work very closely with our core partners of VS, SOSE, SBC and DGC. These partnerships, and this closeness of working, are a huge strength of the South of Scotland's visitor economy. Integrated within this Business Plan are the partners we are working with for each of the 58 projects listed. This is a collective, South of Scotland, effort.

Increasing international visitors:

Objective:	Increase the number of higher-spending international visitors to the South of Scotland, especially targeting the North American and European self-drive markets.
Approach:	- In Europe, focus on Germany, Netherlands and France, with key messages around:
	Scotland – but different (focus on South's USPs), quiet and underexplored, authentic and inspirational, sustainable and natural; leveraging UNESCO Biosphere.
	- In North America, build profile and positioning in US and Canada, with key messages around: ancestral home / personal connections, history and heritage, equestrian, country sports, variety of experiences, authentic and local; with a strong focus on travel trade.
	- Support businesses to build product to connect with these markets.
	- Build new product collaborations between businesses which have existing or potential international product/markets, to entice visitors to stay longer in the South of Scotland.
	- Develop marketing collaborations between businesses to maximise our reach into target international markets.
	- Strong focus on working with/through the travel trade, to build the South's international market share.
	- Build a network of contacts and advisers in the Scottish-US diaspora.

Locally-led input to destination promotion:

Objective:	Regularly engage businesses at a very local level across the South of Scotland, seeking their input and engagement, and offering a high degree of local ownership and influence over how their area is promoted on Scotland Starts Here , to give an honest, local and authentic perspective.
Approach:	- Divide the South of Scotland into 14 geographical areas, with each area having its own distinct landing page, information and video on the Scotland Starts Here website.
	- Have twice-yearly Locally Led Destination Development meetings (alternating in- person and digital), in which businesses come together to review content on Scotland Starts Here and give their input.
In partnership with:	- SSDA members
Target:	 - 28 Locally Led Destination Development meetings a year in each - 300+ businesses attending Locally Led Destination Development meetings [Note: it may be required to reduce frequency to annual due to budget/capacity reductions, in which case these numbers would be halved]

Major international visitor proposition, Stranraer East Pier:

Objective:	Develop, and secure all-agency support for, creating a game-changing national visitor attraction in Stranraer, telling the story of Scottish emigration to target high-spending North American visitors.
Approach:	- Secure all-agency support for de-industrialising the Stranraer waterfront by establishing an alternative location for lorry parking.
	- Establish formal commitment from all-agencies and key stakeholders that this is part of the long-term vision for the Stranraer waterfront.
	- Secure funding and support for the Feasibility Study, Outline Business Case and Full Business Case.
	- Build a network of high net worth supporters in the Scottish-US diaspora.

Equestrian:

Objective:	The South of Scotland positioned as the UK's leading equestrian tourism destination.
Approach:	-Establish a destination equestrian tourism asset register, assessing the current regional landscape and potential partnerships.
	- Key routes and trails published on Scotland Starts Here.
	- Support businesses to access and map existing trails and with partners identify potential signage improvements.
	-Equestrian-suitable properties and suppliers featured on Scotland Starts Here.
	-Develop strong brand identity for the region in the equestrian community.
	- Develop travel trade materials and business toolkits.
	-Deliver development workshops across the region.
	- Press and Influencer content positioning the region as an equestrian destination.
	- Develop the Common Ridings as a clear visitor offering (see separate section).

Common Ridings:

Objective:	The Common Ridings developed into a compelling visitor proposition which is ·	inspiring, easy to engage and increases spend across a large number of local businesses from May to September each year.
Approach:	- Develop a clear, coordinated and inspiring visitor offering around the Common Ridings.
	- Individually engage each of the organising committees for each Common Riding to bring together visitor information, ultimately having tourism development plans agreed for each, which include specific, practical details (where to view, when, where to stay, etc) to be shared with prospective visitors.
	- Build upon and learn from past projects in this space, including 'Return to the Ridings'.
	- A dedicated Common Ridings one-stop-shop webspace created on Scotland Starts Here with detailed visitor information pages for all Common Ridings.
	- Dedicated PR, marketing and social media work to raise awareness of the Ridings and inspire more visitors to visit.
	- Strong partnership working with each of the towns and committees, to ensure all parties are confident that increased visitors are within infrastructure limits and do not dilute the authoritie and historic local community experience.

Paths and Trails:

	T
Objective:	Businesses are better able to leverage the economic value of our natural capital, with visitors drawn to the area to walk or ride, then staying longer and spending more, and visitors able to easily find digital information to enable them to explore path networks.
Approach:	- Walking, cycling and equestrian paths uploaded onto Scotland Starts Here with a dedicated interface, with full topographic and terrain details mapped.
	- Significantly improved digital discoverabilty, so this information is quick and easy to find.
	- Route information to be easily downloadable for offline access through the app, free of charge.
	- Path mapping information fully integrated with business listings information, so visitors can easily find where to stay, eat or buy something on a route.
	- Businesses directly engaged in the development and delivery, with businesses able to propose local walks/cycles which drive spend to their business (e.g. a popular 2-hour walk ending at a local pub).
	- Each popular route to have information about key attractions on route as well as key route-finding details (e.g. turn left at this tree).
	- Work with all existing maps, guidebooks and local leaflets, to reach agreement about including this information on Scotland Starts Here .
	- Support Scottish Borders Council in distributing their existing stock of printed maps to visitor economy businesses.
	- Create new webpages on Scotland Starts Here with signature recommended walking and cycling routes, with more detailed information about accessibility, what to see and businesses to visit on route.
	- Install small, long-life QR signs on key footpath posts and information boards in car parks, to raise awareness of the resource.
	- Give businesses physical marketing collateral, for them to signpost visitors to, with an easy-to-use QR code taking visitors directly to recommended local paths.
	- Deliver media and marketing engagement to raise public awareness of this resource, including recommended walking/cycling/riding itineraries linked to key businesses.

Public transport:

Objective:	A clear, coherent, easy to use public transport visitor offering, with more visitors using the rail and bus network, reducing the cost of service provision as a result and contributing to net zero targets
Approach:	- Work with public transport providers to create a one-stop-shop of digital information about public transport on Scotland Starts Here . This will include a digital, interactive route map showing all the different bus and rail routes, both as a map and a simplified graphic (like the London underground map). This will be the first time all this information is together in the same place.

	- It will include live, RSS embedded timetabling information, as well as links to the service provider website.
	- The mapping information will be linked to businesses on routes, so the user could filter for visitor attractions, accommodation, shopping etc on all the routes.
	- There will be a partnership with all the service providers such that they all promoted and linked to this webspace on Scotland Starts Here.
	- Work with businesses to develop specific visitor-focused public transport itineraries and ensure businesses have up to date information on their websites about 'how to get here by public transport', including links to this SSH information webpage.
	- Work with businesses, supporting them to add the Traveline live public transport information widget to their websites, so visitors have easy access to up-to-date public transport information.
	- Deliver dedicated PR to secure positive coverage across the region.
	- If additional funding secured, this could also include a full branded Scotland Starts Here bus, to raise the profile of this information.

Immersive story-telling:

Objective:	Stories around the South of Scotland's unique history and heritage are available for visitors to enjoy in inspiring and immersive ways, encouraging more people to visit the destination.
Approach:	 Develop new immersive audio tours in the South of Scotland, including for Burns Tourism in Dumfries and also to mark the James Hutton Tercentenary at Siccar Point. Develop an affordable process for the development of significant numbers of new high-quality immersive audio tours across the South of Scotland. Explore new augmented reality (AR) and virtual reality (VR) possibilities, including with GeoTourist.

	 Support the continued success of the Trimontium VR experience and develop opportunities to share this learning and emulate this approach at key locations elsewhere in the South of Scotland. Support Trimontium to develop the interpretation boards at Newstead, with an immersive element. Work with Center Parcs to develop a Heritage Hub in their new holiday village with 360 degrees, immersive projections, telling the story of the Scottish Borders' unique heritage.

Brown Signs:

Objective:	Both councils supported to undertake a full audit of all (c3,000) brown signs in the South of Scotland, with clear industry-led recommendations as to how these can be updated and new, sustainable systems established for their ongoing management.
Approach:	- A full review conducted of the Brown Signs across the South of Scotland, profiling and prioritising them on their condition, accuracy and utility.
	- A detailed industry consultation conducted by the SSDA of visitor economy businesses to get their input on the needs of businesses.
	- Close working with both councils, Transport Scotland, Bear Scotland, VisitScotland and others to develop clear proposals as to what improvements are needed to existing brown signs and how brown signs can be managed going forward (i.e. the application and decision-making process) in a sustainable way.

James Hutton Tercentenary:

Objective:	The South of Scotland the centre of celebrations around the 300 th anniversary of James Hutton's birth, marking his lasting impact on geological sciences and farming techniques, and leveraging this to build visitor offering and attract key higherspending markets.
Approach:	 Facilitate the coordinated cross-agency planning around the tercentenary. Support the development of the Deep Time Trail, to Siccar Point on the Berwickshire Coast, with a clear and compelling visitor offering. Develop immersive audio (and if budget secured Augmented Reality) story -telling as part of the Deep Time Trail. Create dedicated visitor information landing page on Scotland Starts Here to mark the anniversary and secure positive media coverage. Work with others to use this story to inspire higher-spending north American visitors to the South of Scotland.
Funding:	The development of the Siccar Point path requires further fundraising.
In partnership with:	 - James Hutton Institute - Geo-walks - Scottish Borders Council - Edinburgh Geological Society - Scottish Borders Council - Paxton House - South of Scotland Enterprise (SOSE)

Big Houses:

Objective:	To support the South of Scotland's major 'big house' heritage attractions to regularly come together, developing new collaborations and joint-working, offering a well-coordinated visitor offering which leverages the destination's unique heritage and history, attracting more visitors (especially in key target markets) and increasing spend.
Approach:	 Support the Scottish Borders Big Houses group to re-start, with regular meetings supported by the SSDA to agree a clear Big Houses business development plan. Bring key Dumfries and Galloway attractions, such as Drumlanrig Castle, into this group to create a South of Scotland approach. Big houses information on Scotland Starts Here is updated and refreshed, with inspiring new content. Dedicated marketing and PR to push the big houses offer in the Scottish Borders.

Literary Tourism:

Objective:	The South of Scotland established as the leading Scottish literary destination, with particular emphasis on the strong links to the internationally recognised Robert Burns and Sir Walter Scott, as well as two award-winning book festivals and many outstanding independent book shops.
Approach:	 Deliver on the 15-point Sept 2024- Sept 2025 Burns Tourism Action Plan, including the development of a recognised Burns itinerary, a Travel Trade product and an audio guide, and hand this work over to local businesses and other core partners for delivery to be sustained. Reengage members of the Literary Heartlands project and explore the opportunities and interest to develop a literary experience for the South of Scotland. Develop an independent bookseller's Book Trail that celebrates the regions literary links and experiences. Provide advisory role for the Tweed Valley Words trail map Continue to include Scotland Starts Here marketing including social media, press and influencers. Revisit the Literary database and see where opportunities lie to create a tool useful for businesses.

Workforce Development:

Objective:	Visitor economy businesses are consulted and a programme of activity is designed and delivered which directly addresses the key workforce challenges identified by businesses, with: - increased awareness and desirability of careers in the visitor economy. - Those facing barriers to employment receiving specific targeting and enhanced support. - Hospitality and tourism further education courses more directly linked to industry, with strengthened employability and graduates equipped with the skills, experience and insights needed to enter the visitor economy. - Increased coordination and collaboration between the public and private sector across all employability work, with increased collective impact as a result. - Businesses able to recruit, retain and support staff. - Scottish Borders Center Parcs embedded within the existing visitor economy. - Businesses able to easily fill local vacancies, with a pipeline of high-quality
	 Businesses able to easily fill local vacancies, with a pipeline of high-quality candidates equipped with the skills and confidence needed to succeed.
Approach:	- Establish a one-stop shop digital employability hub, broadly emulating Cumbria's successful Tourism Talent Hub, in partnership with 50+ named businesses, with:

- Career pathways information, inspiring people to join the sector.
- Information about the visitor economy as inclusive, welcoming and accessible to all.
- Specific information about additional support available.
- Live job vacancies listings in the South of Scotland visitor economy.
- A digital employability support interface for those interested in the sector/looking for work to be matched to training and employment.
- Inspiring, diverse case studies of people working in the visitor economy.
- Information about vocational training and support and qualifications.
- Information and resources for employers.
- Public outreach campaign delivered across print media, radio and social media, with activity and outreach in secondary schools, to build a positive narrative around the visitor economy.
- Deliver a freely available intensive, interactive, in-person, industry-led one-day employability customer services training course with 1-5 star grading for all who take part.
- Deliver packages of digital support for continuing professional development.
- Develop an enhanced support package for those experiencing barriers to employment.
- Develop a promotional video advertising this training and development.
- Industry Working Group established, bringing together colleges and industry, to:
 - give input to the design of relevant courses qualifications;
 - improve quantity and quality of work placements and apprenticeships;
 - maximise employment opportunities at the completion of courses.
- With SOSE and other partners, look to bring the South of Scotland into the successful Hospitality Apprenticeship Scotland programme.
- With SOSE and other partners, explore developing the first Scottish Hospitality Skills Passport pilot in the South of Scotland.
- South of Scotland Visitor Economy Employability Forum established.
- Webinars, training, information and support given to visitor economy businesses to help them recruit, retain and support the workforce they need.
- Specific partnership established with Center Parcs UK.
- 40+ key employers in the South of Scotland involved in designing the employability customer services training and are partners of the programme.
- Those who receive 'Outstanding' or 'Very good' customer service rating are given industry endorsement of customer excellence and supported into employment.
- Deliver a package of enhanced post-training support and information.
- Provide regular newsletters and check-ins with those who complete the course.

Center Parcs:

Objective:	The proposed Center Parcs holiday village in the Scottish Borders is supported with the SSDA playing a key role in helping ensure it nests well within the existing South of Scotland visitor economy eco-system; maximising the number of local businesses and communities which benefit from this investment, maintaining high levels of public support and minimising possible disruption and displacement for businesses.

Approach:	- Continuing to consult local visitor economy businesses, asking about their priorities and any concerns they have, and responding quickly to these.
	- Continuing make the positive case for Center Parcs in the media, in line with the majority view of local SSDA members.
	- Agree a goodwill partnership between Center Parcs UK and the SSDA, of mutual benefit.
	- Develop a destination marketing partnership which would see at least one email communication sent to those who have booked to stay at Center Parcs in the Scottish Borders, encouraging guests to explore the wider area before or after their stay at Center Parcs, under the Scotland Starts Here destination brand. The SSDA would be able to regularly adjust the content of the communication to profile different areas and hence help spread visitors around the destination.
	- Develop a Heritage and Nature Hub within the new Center Parcs which informs guests about the local areas and inspires them to explore more widely or return to the area, signposting to the official Scotland Starts Here website and app for wider visitor information.
	- Exploring possible information and inspiration about the local area inside the cabins. This could be a conventional information pack, an inspiring Scottish Borders coffee table book, information on CPTV, a QR code to Scotland Starts Here visitor information, pictures on the walls of the local area, or even augmented reality immersive story-telling about the destination.
	- Maximising the number of local suppliers and food and drink of local provenance:
	using these to help tell guests the story of the Scottish Borders and the South of Scotland and sharing information externally about the scale of local suppliers to articulate the local economic benefit.
	- Working with the SSDA and others to make the positive case for the completion of the Borders Railway, through Hawick and on to Carlisle, as part of Center Parcs' commitment to Net Zero.
	- Being actively involved in all-agency coordination work to develop the visitor workforce, sharing early information about recruitment plans and working collaboratively as a sector to collectively address skills gaps, inspire more people into the visitor economy, and minimise workforce displacement. Key to this is using the scale and immense positivity around the Center Parcs investment to build an inspiring public narrative around tourism as an exciting growth sector, inspiring more people into the visitor economy and reassuring existing businesses that
In	Center Parcs will not be recruiting from their existing staff. - CenterParcs

Planning and licensing support:

Objective:	Planning and licensing applications which will strengthen the South of Scotland Objective. visitor economy in sensitive and sustainable ways, are actively supported by the SSDA, with the SSDA also able to feed into improvements in how planning and licensing decisions are made.
Approach:	- Appropriate planning and licensing applications are actively supported by the SSDA.
	- Planning and licensing applications which would weaken the visitor economy are actively opposed by the SSDA.
	- Work closely with Dumfries and Galloway Council and Scottish Borders Council, as the industry liaison partner, to support and strengthen systems for: planning applications, short term lets license applications and enforcement, self-catering non-domestic rates assessments, etc.
	- Relationships and processes developed for a more systematic, timely and scalable approach to planning decision-making, so it is easier for the two councils to see if/how planning applications do/do not fit within the agreed Responsible Tourism Strategy.

Advocacy:

Objective:	The views of visitor economy businesses on key issues are effectively represented by the SSDA, with coherent and impactful advocacy work.
Approach:	SSDA to consult members (formally or informally) to inform its advocacy work on key issues including, inter alia:
	- Potholes and other road works
	- Cross Border Pylons
	- A708 timber transport
	- Visitor levy
	- Renewable energy infrastructure (wind, solar, battery storage, etc)

Data insights:

Objective:	Visitor economy businesses are able to access, understand and act on key business insight data, to support and develop their business.
Approach:	- Work with Councils to support the timely sharing of annual STEAM data, with this publicly available.
	- Explore opportunities and integration of new AI technology.
	- Be an active part of Scottish Tourism Data Partnership, with the South of Scotland as a possible pilot area.
	- Upload all publicly available visitor economy data onto the SSDA's data insights webpage, so it is freely available.
	- Develop partnerships with businesses such as Key Data, to explore and share new types of data.
	- Support members to access, understand and act on data.
	- Develop innovative ways of aggregating meta-data, including on visitor feedback, to understand key issues, target areas for investment, and track progress in strengthening the quality of our destination's offering.

Mediation and business engagement:

Objective:	The SSDA plays a key role in resolving significant issues in the visitor economy by leading mediation work.
Approach:	As need requires, the SSDA is brought in as the official industry representative for the South of Scotland to mediate key issues and support business engagement, as it has with:
	- Purchase of Clatteringshaws for Scottish Dark Skies Observatory
	- Tour of Borders Road Closures
	- River Tweed Trail business engagement
	- Workforce development
Funding:	Going forwards, this would need to be done on a full cost recovery basis.

Travel trade business training:

Objective:	Increased numbers of South of Scotland visitor economy businesses are travel trade ready and benefitting from the industry.
Approach:	- Deliver short, inspiring taster sessions for businesses to make them aware of the potential that working with the travel trade offers.
	- Deliver formal training and ongoing support for businesses to become travel trade ready.
	- Offer travel trade knowledge updates on an individual basis to businesses.
	- Help all trained businesses to become visible on the travel trade directory hosted on Scotland Starts Here website.
	- Ensure all travel trade trained businesses' information is sent to the relevant travel trade operators.
	- Work in collaboration with VisitScotland, D&G Council and SB Council to ensure training, advice and exposure for South of Scotland businesses.
In partnership	- SSDA members
with:	- VisitScotland
	- Dumfries and Galloway Council
	- Scottish Borders Council
Target:	- Train 20 businesses per year, taking them from a beginner/intermediate level to become fully travel trade ready.
	- All SSDA Member businesses already engaged with the travel trade, offered advice and guidance to enhance their travel trade product or experience.

Connecting together local tourism groups:

Objective:	All local tourism groups in the South of Scotland have a partnership with, and are supported by, the SSDA - supporting coherent and coordinated destination management and marketing and a range of scales, while celebrating and supporting local drive and leadership.
Approach:	- Bring together, coordinate and support the various local town-level groups, with formal partnerships of mutual support agreed with each of the local groups – for example, in the Scottish Borders: Kelso, Selkirk, Jedburgh, Hawick, Eyemouth, Melrose, Peebles, Galashiels, Duns, Coldstream, Newcastleton and, as well as Go Tweed Valley and the Ale Valley. - Over 400 new businesses are added to the Scotland Starts Here website and app as a result of these partnerships. - Bi-annual meetings established which bring together all the town groups to listen to and support local priorities, and ensure each town is embedded in -and benefitting from- the SSDA and Scotland Starts Here . - Clear linking between Scotland Starts Here and local town-level websites and information sources.
Funding:	This project is included in a specific funding agreement with Scottish Borders Council and hence will have an initial focus in the Scottish Borders but we will look to emulate and scale this up to include Dumfries and Galloway as far as capacity and budget allows.

Membership Benefits:

Objective:	South of Scotland tourism and hospitality businesses benefit from discounted products and services as part of their SSDA membership.
Approach:	Develop and promote member services, including:
	- Howden Insurance – free consultation and revision of insurance, with potential discounts on any new policy.
	- RAW (EV) Charging - free EV charging units for those members who qualify, with a sustained revenue source for businesses.
	- ASSC - discount on ASSC membership for all SSDA members
	- Supplier discounts – a variety of discount opportunities for businesses for supplies relevant to tourism and hospitality.
Target	50+ members benefitting from discounted products and services.

Connecting and signposting to other business support:

Objective:	All information, training and support relevant to visitor economy businesses is coordinated, integrated and coherent; with the SSDA making it easy for businesses to find the support they are after, whichever organisation provides it.
Approach:	- Establish a one-stop shop webpage on the (B2B) SSDA website, with clear and easy access information from all providers.
	- Ensure all training, information and support providers are aware of all others' work, to reduce duplication of effort.
	- Regularly signpost businesses to other organisations' activities and support.

STRAND FOUR: Act responsibly for long-term collective benefit

Locally Led Destination Development:

Objective:	Establish strong, sustained local engagement and local ownership of the Scotland Starts Here brand, and a bottom-up, community-sensitive approach to tourism, through regular Locally Led Destination Development (LLDD) meetings bringing together local businesses to discuss local priorities and how they want their local area promoted.
Approach:	 Divide the south of Scotland up into 14 areas which each have their own landing page, content and video on Scotland Starts Here. Meet twice yearly with each of the LLDDs, alternating in-person and digital. Have open time in these meetings to listen to the priorities and concerns of local businesses and be alert and responsive to potential hotspots or other visitor management issues. Publicly share minutes from each meeting and report back on what has been achieved against what was agreed at the last meeting. Brief partner agencies on the key issues being heard on a local level, for maximum impact.
In partnership with:	- SSDA members
Target:	 - 28 Locally Led Destination Development meetings a year - 300+ businesses attending Locally Led Destination Development meetings [Note: it may be required to reduce frequency to annual due to budget/capacity reductions, in which case these numbers would be halved]

Responsible Tourism Infrastructure Fund:

Objective:	Both the Scottish Borders and Dumfries and Galloway secure significant funding from the Scottish Government's Rural Tourism Infrastructure Fund (RTIF) to address specific visitor management pinch points in the South of Scotland.
Approach:	- Secure funding for Scottish Borders Council from the Scottish Government for the development of a Strategic Tourism Infrastructure Development Plan (which is required to secure RTIF funds).
	- Consult industry on infrastructure development priorities for the Scottish Borders, for inclusion in the Strategic Tourism Infrastructure Development Plan.
	- Co-author the Strategic Tourism Infrastructure Development Plan for the Scottish Borders.
	- Support Scottish Borders Council to make an RTIF application which has strong industry support and advances the delivery of the Responsible Tourism Strategy.
	- Separately, support Dumfries and Galloway council's 2025 RTIF application for funding for coastal car parks [Note: DGC already has a Strategic Tourism Infrastructure Development Plan, which allows faster progression].

Natural capital investment:

Objective:	A clear, compelling, coherent and coordinated ask of the Scottish Government for additional support for the South of Scotland, in the context of the rejected Galloway National Park, which brings new investment in support of responsible tourism, visitor management and the preservation of natural capital.
Approach:	 Develop a clear set of asks of the Scottish Government and move quickly to make this case of the Cabinet Secretary, linking directly to what was heard (from both sides) through the NatureScot-led consultation. Make this public ask of the Scottish Government, with a strong focus on investing in responsible visitor management. Work closely with GSAB to increase information about the UNESCO biosphere on Scotland Starts Here (and vice versa), with a fully integrated business plan to ensure no duplication of effort.
In partnership with:	- SSDA members - Galloway and Southern Ayrshire UNESCO Biosphere (GSAB) - Scottish Government - VisitScotland - Dumfries and Galloway Council - South of Scotland Enterprise (SOSE) - NatureScot
Target:	 Clear asks of SG during summer of 2025 UNESO Biosphere information fully updated on Scotland Starts Here by October 2025

Inclusive and accessible travel:

Objective:	South of Scotland positioned as a welcoming, accessible, and inclusive destination for all visitors, in line with the Responsible Tourism Strategy.
Approach:	- Highlight inclusive experiences in marketing and storytelling, using lived experience voices.
	- Encourage and support investment in accessibility infrastructure which benefits all, from ramps to quiet spaces.
	- A regional toolkit and training programme to support businesses in becoming more accessible.

	collective move towards net zero.
Approach:	- Engage with partner agencies to collate information about existing support, advice and information on offer.
	- Signpost to this support and only where there is both demonstrable needs and high confidence it is not duplicating others' support, would the SSDA develop its Borders Rail Completion:

Objective:	The SSDA uses its influence and leverage to help secure political and financial support for the completion of the Borders Railway to Carlisle by, with others, making the positive case for the benefit to the visitor economy.

Approach:	- Use the tenth anniversary of the existing line (Sept 2025) to help tell the story of the positive impact the line has had on the visitor economy and to make public and political case for completing the line to Carlisle.
	- Work with Center Parcs to make the positive case as to the economic and environmental benefits of continuing to Hawick, given the £400m Center Parcs investment which will attract hundreds of thousands of new visitors to the area.
	- Look to secure all-party manifesto commitments for the May Holyrood election.

Visitor Management:

Objective:	Visitor management issues are quickly identified through systems to listen to businesses and community representatives at a local level, with the SSDA flagging issues with partner agencies and co-designing efficient, effective and timely mitigations.
Approach:	- Twice yearly Locally Led Destination Development meetings, to listen to local businesses, asking about any hot spots or local issues and discussing what interventions would be most locally appropriate.
	- Responding quickly and effectively to all concerns raised by the public with the SSDA, meeting with the individuals wherever possible to really understand the nature of the concerns and what mitigations would help.
	- Sharing issues with the four partner agencies (SBC, DGC, SOSE, VS) in weekly Tuesday afternoon meetings.
	- Integrating issues identified locally into the Strategic Tourism Infrastructure Development Plans for each council and, where appropriate, supporting Rural Tourism Infrastructure Fund (RTIF) applications to address these issues.
	- Specific focus on the South West Coastal 300 driving route, ensuring we have collectively learned all possible lessons from the NC500 and that this route continues to be welcomed by local communities and businesses, making changes to the route as required and ensuring we always promote responsible and slow travel

STRAND FIVE: Organisational Development:

Sustainable funding:

Objective:	Develop a genuinely sustainable funding model for the SSDA as the official destination management and marketing organisation to ensure the South of Scotland delivers on the Responsible Tourism Strategy.
Approach:	Board and CEO Income Generation Working Group which meets weekly, developing nine possible sources of income:
	(i) SOSE funding for delivery of Responsible Tourism Strategy
	(ii) Other public sector funding, including from Councils
	(iii) Membership income
	(iv) Corporate sponsorship
	(v) Event sponsorship

Focus on outcomes and efficiency:

Objective:	SSDA able to operate at a reduced budget by ensuring that all internal systems and processes are as efficient, economical and effective as possible, with a constant, strict focus on outcomes and delivery.
Approach:	 Review and revise all internal systems on an annual basis. Review and revise, if necessary, all supplier contracts and agreements on an annual basis with the aim to reduce costs. Continue to have a strictly outcomes focused organisational culture, rather than a process focus. Regularly report to partners, members and the public on what we have achieved, to maintain this culture. Make clear to external partners the SSDA does not have spare capacity to sit on groups which do not directly lead to tangible outcomes which drive the visitor economy. Empower all staff to deliver on the objectives they are responsible for and support them to make appropriate decisions about how best to use their time to best achieve measurable results.
Target:	Increased efficiency of operation.

Membership growth:

Objective:	SSDA membership continues to grow, with the SSDA the largest destination management and marketing organisation in Scotland, and with increasing financial contributions from SSDA Members.
Approach:	- Increase the visibility of the SSDA and Scotland Starts Here.
	- Be clear about the work the SSDA does, the efficiency of its operation and the impact it has: highlighting how it is demonstrably delivering against businesses' priorities.
	- Continue to offer free 'Basic' membership but make clear the significant, and cost-effective, benefits of paid membership.
	- Strengthen the member value proposition of enhanced (Partner or Bespoke) membership.
Target:	- Membership to exceed 1,000 before June 2027.
